

The Earth Is Responding!

I remember seeing the play called “HAIR”. And I remember them saying “that this is the first day of the rest of your life”. “This is the dawning of the age of Aquarius”. Well, this is very true today and we all should take note. The blacks, the reds, the browns, the whites and the yellows. Wow, what a spectrum we have to work with!

When we look today at how much has changed in a very short period of time, then we begin to realize how fragile our lives are here on the planet; where we deny that we are affecting the climate, hunger, poor nutrition, and poisoning the soils and water! What are we or were we thinking as a whole? Can we rely on governments to work on these issues? No, we must rely on ourselves and others on an individual level to respond.

Are the plants, animals, minerals, weather and water, effected by the corona virus? No, they are carrying on as usual; growing great crops, flourishing in the forests and falling down hillsides in water falls!

Relax ~ the rivers are running, the rain is falling, the waves breaking, the trees growing and swaying as people all over the planet are masking up! Let’s get the message that the Earth is very much alive and is responding to what we are doing to Her. When we get the message, then the virus will let go, so LET’S GET IT. We must also note that there are countless viruses that the human could get from Nature to get our attention, not just a corona.

I must ask, Was it so bad to have to stay home and get to know our families together? Is it so bad that the air over L.A. has decreased its smog levels? Is it so bad that the canals in Venice are clear? Yeah, there is a silver lining and when we look at the good instead of the bad, then we can initiate change in the right direction. We are not bad as humans; we have just been hypnotized by the very few to consume, destroy and numb ourselves. I don't believe that is was intentional, however it is something we have to deal with. What happens when you have billions of dollars? Money is no longer an issue, it becomes a game of power, much like a chess game...

Could we suggest that anyone’s country or secretary, etc. who wants to war, sit down at a chess table and see who wins their way!
